HEALTHY COMMUNITIES IN A WORLD FREE OF AIDS

People living with HIV and those most at risk enjoy greater health and well-being

More people know their HIV status and are able to prevent, treat, and access care and treatment if diagnosed with HIV

Priority populations experience reduced stigma, discrimination, and violence

Communities and regions within selected settings are close to ending AIDS

LONG-TERM OUTCOMES

1. Sustained provision of quality health care
2. Sustained provision of social and legal services, education, and opportunities to improve health and economic security
3. Individuals, families, and wider society respect the rights of priority populations
4. Priority populations understand and increasingly demand their rights

INTERMEDIATE OUTCOMES

1. Stakeholders commit to the strategic partnership and provide greater leadership
2. Policy and legislative changes in order to reduce barriers to health services
3. Adequate and sustained funding including for scaling up effective and innovative community-led interventions
4. Evidence base on gaps in the response, key priorities and what works
5. Comprehensive investment case for each setting
6. Evidence base on gaps in the response, key priorities and what works
7. Relevant stakeholders and partners mobilised to work together to achieve the common goal building

COMMUNITY STRATEGIC INITIATIVES

1. Trained and resourced community health workers provide quality health care services
2. Service providers and key influencers who are sensitised on gender and human rights
3. Trained and resourced peer workers make referrals and provide psycho-social and adherence support
4. Priority populations and communities who are trained on health and human rights
5. Civil society engaged in generating evidence, monitoring and advocacy to improve laws, policies and practices
6. Opportunities for income generation and economic empowerment
7. Community of diverse innovators equipped to contribute
8. Evidence base on gaps in the response, key priorities and what works

BREAKTHROUGH

1. Positive Action valued as an informed and credible contributor to the partnership

STRATEGIES

1. Use evidence to support programmes
2. Advocate for rights-based and community-led services
3. Invest in community-led interventions
4. Strengthen capacity of civil society
5. Foster innovation to accelerate progress
6. Collaborate with diverse partners

INPUTS

1. Our funds
2. Our people
3. Our systems

KEY:
- Community Strategic Initiatives: improving quality of life
- Breakthrough: creating strategic partnerships for targeted impacts