

ViiV Healthcare Ethics & Compliance Program – US Operations

July 2024

INTRODUCTION

ViiV Healthcare is a global specialist HIV company dedicated to delivering advances in treatment and care for people living with HIV and for people who are at risk of acquiring HIV. We aim to take a deeper and broader interest in HIV and AIDS than any company has done before and take a new approach to deliver effective and innovative medicines for HIV treatment and prevention, as well as support communities affected by HIV.

Our culture guides our people to behave in an ethical way, to do the right thing and act on any concerns they have. It's important that all our people live up to this, and we expect the same of our suppliers.

VH is committed to establishing and maintaining an effective compliance program in accordance with "Compliance Program Guidance for Pharmaceutical Manufacturers," published by the Office of Inspector General, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (the "HHS-OIG Guidance"). Our Compliance Program is one of the key components of our commitment to the highest standards of corporate conduct.

The purpose of our Compliance Program is to prevent and detect violations of law or Company policy. As the HHS-OIG Guidance recognizes, however, the implementation of such a program cannot guarantee that improper employee conduct will be entirely eliminated. Nonetheless, it is VH's expectation that employees will comply with our Code, and the policies established in support of the Code. In the event that VH becomes aware of violations of law or Company policy, we will investigate the matter and, where appropriate, take disciplinary action and implement corrective measures to prevent future violations.

VH has described below the fundamental elements of our Corporate Compliance Program. As HHS-OIG calls for in its Guidance, we have tailored our Compliance Program to fit the unique environment of our Company. Moreover, our Compliance Program is dynamic; we regularly review and enhance our Compliance Program to meet our evolving compliance needs.

Overview of Compliance Program

I. Leadership and Structure

Chief Compliance Officer

Andrew Stewart, General Counsel & Chief Compliance Officer, serves as the focal point for VH's compliance activities. We are committed to ensuring that Andrew Stewart, as the Chief Compliance Officer, has the ability to effectuate change within the organization as necessary and to exercise independent judgment. Andrew Stewart is charged with the responsibility for developing, operating and monitoring the Compliance Program.

Assisting the Chief Compliance Officer is the VP & Head of Global Compliance, and the VH US Compliance team, who facilitate the operation of VH's Corporate Compliance program to ensure compliance with applicable laws, regulations, and Company policies, and to foster a positive, ethical work environment for employees.

VH's Corporate Compliance program operates under the direction of the VP & Head of Global Compliance, Karen Allman, who facilitates the operation of an Internal Control Framework for oversight and guidance to ensure compliance with applicable laws, regulations, and Company policies, and to foster a positive, ethical work environment for employees.

Risk Management and Compliance Boards

VH has established an Internal Control Framework to ensure that Enterprise Risks are reviewed and monitored and that specific issues and incidents (e.g., a compliance failure) are followed up and corrected. VH has established the Risk Management and Compliance Boards (RMCBs) to assist the Company in its review of risks and the system of internal controls necessary to address such risks. In the US, the North America Leadership Team RMCB is co-chaired by the SVP & Head of VH North America and the Senior Director of North America Compliance. RMCBs have been established to oversee and ensure implementation of internal controls for risk management and legal compliance, and to provide regular reports to the VH Leadership Team (VLT) on the performance of such controls together with specific issues that arise.

II. Written standards

The Code

Ethical conduct is a priority for VH and we are committed to performance with integrity. It is important that we conduct our business with honesty and integrity and in compliance with applicable legal and regulatory requirements.

VH adopted the Code of its majority shareholder GlaxoSmithKline.

VH's Code is our statement of ethical and compliance principles that guide our daily operations and is anchored in our culture. The Code establishes expectations for management, employees, and agents of the Company to act in accordance with applicable laws and Company policy.

The Code can be accessed using the following URL: the-code-presentation-version.pdf \(gsk.com\).

US Compliance Policies

Our US Policies support the commitments we make in The Code and provide requirements and restrictions on activities by our sales, marketing, medical affairs and market access employees to ensure these activities meet legal requirements and high ethical standards. These Policies cover a range of activities including but not limited to:

- Reporting of human safety information related to VH products
- Information that may be used by VH personnel to promote VH products
- Providing meals or educational items to a healthcare professional
- Distribution of drug samples to healthcare professionals
- Selection and retention of healthcare professionals for consultation
- Contacts between VH sales representatives and consumers
- Conduct of VH-sponsored speaker programs to educate healthcare professionals
- Sponsoring independent medical education or providing charitable contributions
- Role of sales and marketing personnel at national or regional medical conventions
- Non promotional engagement with customers

These Policies, which are in addition to VH Corporate Policies, apply to all employees in VH US operations as well as other VH employees when they are involved in the marketing or selling of pharmaceutical products in the U.S.

Annual Spend Limit for California Healthcare Professionals

VH has adopted a number of policies and processes designed to help ensure that its promotional practices are in accordance with the OIG Guidance and consistent with the PhRMA Code guidelines. VH has also set an overall annual spend limit for the Company when dealing with medical or healthcare professionals covered in Section 119402 of the California Health & Safety Code. VH has established the annual Company limit on promotional or other items provided to California medical or healthcare professionals of $2,500. This annual limit is subject to revision.

In addition, consistent with the California statute, the following items have been excluded from the annual limit:

- Product samples intended for free distribution to patients for consumer use
- Financial support for continued medical education
- Health educational scholarships
- Fair market value payments for legitimate professional services (e.g., consulting, advisory boards)
- Research sponsorship and related activities

This limit has been documented in VH US Policies and communicated to VH management teams and employees. The VH US local operating company and each employee is expected to manage their spend to comply with the annual limit. VH has also established corporate monitoring processes for this limit.

III. Education and Training

We provide employees at all levels of the Company with the support they need to make ethical choices through a variety of programs, many of which are designed to reinforce our culture. VH provides training and education programs to make sure employees understand our Code and policies, comply with the law, and know what standards of behavior are required. Our global induction course includes training on The Code. This ensures new employees understand the importance of ethical conduct from day one, know how to deal with potential dilemmas, and know where to seek help. We provide additional training for employees who will be working in areas such as sales and marketing, research and development, and payer markets. In addition, we provide training and workshops to keep employees up-to-date with changes and to reinforce key elements in VH policies. Recertification on significant policies is required on a regular basis for VH employees in the U.S. who work in Sales, Marketing and Market Access.

Commitment to our Code is reinforced by an annual certification program. Certification documentation is managed electronically and is followed up to ensure completion.

IV. Internal Lines of Communication

Reporting Concerns

VH encourages employees, complementary & contingency workers, vendors and any other groups we do business with to report concerns over possible misconduct, potential conflicts, or known breaches of The Code, and other Company policies and procedures. Ideally, concerns should be raised before problems develop.

People are encouraged to first seek help and to report concerns or suspected cases of misconduct through their line management, Compliance, Legal or an HR representative.

Speak Up Integrity Line

For people who are unable or uncomfortable discussing a concern with these internal teams, they may also raise a concern by calling VH's confidential, toll-free Speak Up Integrity Line or raising a web report. These reporting tools are globally supported, and reports can be raised anonymously if preferred. Employees in the U.S. and Canada may call toll-free at 1-866-GSK-ETHICS (1-866-475-3844) at any time of day.

The Speak Up Integrity Line is promoted through the Code, on the VH intranet and externally on viivhealthcare.com, as well as through training and communications. The Legal & Compliance department is promoted as a source of information and advice, as well as a mechanism for reporting concerns. Internal data suggests employees understand this and see it as a useful source of advice and guidance.

VH encourages employees to report concerns without fear of reprisal. The Company endeavors to treat all questions or concerns about compliance in a confidential manner, even if the person reporting a question or concern identifies themselves.

The Company recognizes that employees may be discouraged from reporting concerns if they believe that retaliation, retribution, or harassment may result. VH will take disciplinary action up to and including termination against anyone who threatens or engages in retaliation or harassment of any person who has reported, or is considering reporting a concern in good faith.

The Company will respond to and follow-up with concerns received on the Speak Up Integrity Line. The concern will be handled promptly, discreetly, and professionally. Depending on the findings of an inquiry, the Company will take the action it deems appropriate in accordance with Company policy.

V. Auditing and Monitoring

Monitoring for compliance is first conducted by managers and supplemented by independent monitoring in certain areas. Issues identified in monitoring may be escalated for investigation and incorporated in training and education programs. Audits are also conducted on a regular basis by our internal Audit and Assurance group. We also monitor awareness of ethical issues and company policies through our Speak Up Integrity Line, reporting channels, and surveys. As part of our commitment to continuous improvement, we benchmark our compliance program against other major companies, our industry peers, and government and regulatory standards.

VI. Responding to Potential Violations and Corrective Action Procedures

VH's Legal & Compliance department ensures that allegations and suspected cases of misconduct brought to the compliance department's attention are investigated. We are committed to taking firm steps to correct misconduct including administering discipline, up to and including dismissal, where necessary. We also take corrective measures, such as retraining, increased monitoring, and warnings.
